Witcha "Witcha" has been housing developer to a "monster."

This is how Doris Lee, the founder and president of beleaguered property developer Globe Asia Realty Holdings Corp., usually described his ordeal as a result of the media storm over the Pag-Big, or the Home Development Mutual Fund, housing loan issue.

But even though he has yet to go through the wringer of a congressional

PRESIDENT AQUINO yesterday warned against making hasty conclusions that "Monday Night" may have killed some of the Hong Kong inmates during the Rizal Park hostage saga.

Mr. Aquino's call for caution coincided with an appeal by Justice Secretary Leila de Lima to the media to be more responsible in their reports about the inquiry being conducted by a fact-finding panel also chaired.

"Let us not jump to conclusions, they promised the report by Wednesday. Let's wait for the report," the President told reporters.

He said questions remained as the secretary of a theory that firing from police commandos trying to rescue Hong Kong tourists held hostage by disarmed Spratly troops. Rolando Mendoza might have let

Sue me, Cunanan dares Drilon

By Christine V. Espinosa

RETIRED Lt. Gen. Thelma Cunanan, the former Social Security System chair who has fled prominently in the congressional investigation into the allegedly massive scam package in government-owned and -controlled corporations, yesterday dared the Senate Finance Committee to file charges against him.

"Sue us in court so that those people being utilized will have a fair chance to see the record straight," said Cunanan, speaking through his wife, actress Isabella Orosco-Cunanan.

By Ronald W. Domingo and Norman Bordados

THE GOVERNMENT yesterday marked a milestone when it raised $1 billion, or P44.1 billion, from the sale of securities, pulling off the sale of the first peso-denominated bond outside the country.

It was also the first time an Asian country conducted a bond issue in its own currency.

Usually, the government borrows from foreign institutional lenders in terms of US dollars, euros and yen.

The offering shows that, this time, the Philippine peso is now being accepted as an overseas bond. Finance Secretary Cesar V. Magsalona said.

"Now, we can lessen the issuance of dollar bonds in the future," he said.

Purisima described yesterday's transaction as "a record-breaking success and a breakthrough achievement" of the Aquino administration.

Pastor cancels Koran-burning amid int'l firestorm

In a wired world, the crises come instantly

GAINESVILLE, Florida—An anti-Islamic preacher backed off and then threatened to reconsider burning the Koran on the anniversary of the 9/11 attacks, shortly accusing a Muslim leader of being in cahoots on Thursday with a promise to move on Islamic center and mosque away from New York's Ground Zero.

The imam planning the center closed those who cover such a deal.

The Rev. Terry Jones presented an international firestorm with his plan to burn the Koran on Saturday, the sixth anniversary of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks, and he has been under intense pressure to give it up. President Barack Obama urged him to listen to "those better angels" and give up his "stunt," saying it would endanger Muslims.

LGUs not collecting enough taxes—COA

By Lito S. Solares

LOCAL GOVERNMENT units (LGUs) were not earning enough in tax revenue because they were not aggressive in collecting taxes and improving the proper fees, according to the Commission on Audit (COA).

The COA also said many LGUs depended mostly on their internal revenue allocations from their share of taxes from the national government, ignoring their needs.

This prompted the COA to recommend the implementation of a comprehensive revenue plan that would allow effective strategies for collecting taxes and fees, provide for more autonomy, and create a more efficient and effective use of a list of development incentives available to them.

"It is quite disturbing that a great number of LGUs are yet to replace their potential revenue sources 10 years after the implementation of RA 7160 (the Local Government Code)," the COA said.

Self-reliance

The Local Government Code which took effect in 1991 specifies the powers and responsibilities of LGUs, and intends to make them self-reliant communities.

The COA announced 10 LGUs—Marikina, Quezon, Malabon, Calabarzon (Ragay, Marikina, San Juan, Pines, Alibon), Puerto Princesa, Bataan City, Bataan government, Davao, Pangasinana, Marikina, Quezon, Marikina and Quezon del Norte.

In its audit conducted from February 2009 to January 2010, the COA looked into the fees and taxes these LGUs imposed from 2000 to 2008.

In its report, the audit agency said the shortfall in collections was due to the LGUs failure to fully exercise their taxing powers.

It said the LGUs did not properly compute and properly issue, as they were unable to verify the validity of fair market value of real property taxes every three years as required by law.

Did rates

Not all LGUs understood by as much as P42.70 million because these taxpayers had not permits and license offices imposed additional fees for the payment of some taxes.

The COA also said LGUs had imposed and collect, all revenues on all lands and did not issue permits or licenses for commercial and property taxes with tax delinquency.

All 10 LGUs were also delayed when it came to assessing tax delinquency. Furthermore, they granted P22.46 million in discounts on licenses and property taxes at annual amounts to taxpayers without corresponding conditions.

Several LGUs also did not comply with their directives as businesses that were not fully licensed without permits and licenses, resulting in additional revenue for the LGUs.

Others had inadequate monitoring of quarrying activities, and collection of fees was not maximized.

The COA also said other LGUs required revenues for taxes, while others imposed taxes on businesses.

Wrong computation

Pasig City, in particular, was found to be having P44.02 million yearly losses of undercollection of taxes arising from the use of the wrong method of determining the market value of commercial lots.

"These deficiencies may have been due to tax enforcement and/or apparent oversight of existing rules and regulations, lack of adequate monitoring of performance of assessed offices, lack of coordination between and among offices, and failure to maintain accurate records," the COA said.

GMA seeks to get tough on drunk driving

By Michael Lee Llanes

FORMER PRESIDENT Gloria Macapagal Arroyo now wants her successor to get tough on drunk drivers.

Arroyo, representative of the second division of Pangasinan, has called a bill ready seeking stricter penalties on drunk and DWI offenders, which could lead to driving under the influence of alcohol and driving while intoxicated, respectively.

But an DWI is considered a crime in every state in the United States, and that, if not all, it is one of the legal limits of Objectives in the United States, and that, if not all, it is one of the legal limits of Objectives in the United States, and that, if not all, it is one of the legal limits of Objectives in the United States.

In the Philippines, although there are already strict driving conditions in most cities, there is no enforcement among authorities.

Thus, House Bill No. 382, co-authored by Ms. Arroyo and her son, Rep. Donato M. Arroyo, representative of the second division of Pangasinan, seeks to declare driving while under the influence of alcohol a crime.

The bill is actually a revised bill since it was passed by the House of Representatives in the previous Congress. However, the bill was effectively killed due to inaction on the part of the Senate leadership.

Philippine College of Surgeons

The Organization of Surgical Specialists in the Philippines
A Specialty Division of the Philippine Medical Association

VISION: A world-class organization of surgeons

MISSION: To promote the highest quality surgical care

CORE VALUES: Social Responsibility, Quality, Teamwork, Integrity

BREAKTHROUGH OBJECTIVES: Social Accountability and Responsibility

Dr. [Name]

The Philippine College of Surgeons was founded on September 12, 1935 to a group of visionary surgeons led by the late Dr. [Name]. From that premise of surgical excellence, the organization has grown into a globally recognized specialty. The year we proudly enter in the 75th year of our organization's meaningful existence. To appreciate the College's historic accomplishments in the past, we plan to celebrate our Diamond Jubilee for a special year. The theme of our celebration will be "Continuing the Culture of Surgical Excellence" and will be observed on September 12, 2010 and September 12, 2011. This celebration has involved various community outreach activities, including seminars and surgical camps, to be held in the provinces and cities of the Philippines to highlight the specialty and social responsibilities of the surgeons.

In order to honor and value the great achievements that our predecessors have made in the field of surgery, the PCS has decided to organize an activity to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the Philippine College of Surgeons on September 12, 2011.

STEPHEN Delfino MD, FRCGS
President

It is with great pleasure that I invite you to join us in the celebration of the 75th founding anniversary of the Philippine College of Surgeons on September 12, 2011.

The celebration will commence on September 12, 2010 with a series of activities in all parts of the Philippines. Activities include seminars, medical and surgical camps, and other projects, all of which are aimed to educate the public about the Philippine College of Surgeons.

In its 75 years of existence, the Philippine College of Surgeons has grown to encompass all aspects of surgery, from general surgery to specialized fields. The PCS has provided specialized services in all parts of the Philippines. It has consistently provided excellent medical and surgical services to its members in the care of patients.

STANBUL—Spain's basketball team won 34 points to help the United States beat Russia 90-79 on Thursday to move into the semifinals of the world championship.

It was the 20th anniversary of the Soviet Union's victory over the Americans for an Olympic gold medal, a game with such a controversial ending that the US players refused to accept their silver medals.

In 1972, the US team led by a point when officials ordered the final three seconds of the game to be replayed. The Soviets scored in that time, causing the Americans to boycott the medal ceremony.

That night, there would be no fireworks at the final of the game, shooting 11 of 17 while just missing Canada. Russia's world championship was won 31 points in 2000.

"We're going to go to win," US coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "We learned in coaching you should get your best players the ball."

The US is now two wins from its first world title since 1994 and will play Lithuania on Saturday.

Lithuania advanced to the semifinals of the basketball world championship for the first time, hitting nine of 28 shots in three quarters Thursday to beat Argentina 104-65.

Spain's double win was 16 points in 12 minutes, which had been a record in double digits. Lithuania forced Spain to shoot 27 points, while guard Juan Carlos Navarro and forward 16 each.

The defeat means Argentina won't finish in the top four at the world, Olympic or FIBA American Championship for the first time since 2000.

An player on the young American team is old enough to remember that 1972 game—many are barely old enough to remember the Cold War. But Mike Krzyzewski, the NBA's senior vice president of player development, played on the US team and in Turkey with the NBA's stars.

"I said then today, 'I know nothing's going to bring that back, but at least we'll get up to make you at least a little better,'" Krzyzewski said. "And he said, 'Well, that's the story.'"

The US and Russia have met many times since 1972, including a US victory 36 years ago in Toronto that gave the Americans their first world championship. And there will be much of a steady argument between the nations—the NBA runs around on the same time zone as the Olympics.

Nadal ousts Verdasco, gains semis

MONTREAL—Rafael Nadal won his first ATP title since 2005 by ousting Verdasco for the only time in five matches on the ATP tour, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4, Thursday night in the first of two matches scheduled in the ATP Open House.

Nadal's record of 62 consecutive matches of wins ended in Thursday's first game, when Verdasco broke back at least 10 times. But Nadal wouldn't let another break point be the end of the match, though, and won the last 11 points he served in the second set.

Nadal is headed to a third consecutive semifinal at Flushing Meadows. He has never reached a final in New York.

"Right now, for me, it's a very nice win today to be in the semifinals for the first time in a long time. It's a very important moment in the world," Nadal said. "But the most important is the next opponent."

In the very early going, Verdasco played the best of both worlds, appearing to be the best of both worlds. It was known by the time Nadal broke back to get to 4-0, thanks to Verdasco's consecutive double faults, and Nadal was serving more and more comfortably.

The Spanish will face 12th-ranked Nikolai Pietrangeli of Russia for a spot in the final. Nadal's last win, 23 years ago, was a 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, in four hours and 15 minutes.

Bus robbers strike twice

Gang sticks up passengers with lightning speed

By Nina Calaga

ROBBERS struck twice yesterday in two separate instances in Marikina City and Taytay, Rizal, divesting cash and valuables from passengers of two commuter buses.

Both robberies happened in less than two minutes, police said.

Sgt. Carlos Balones, Tayay police chief, said four men "who looked like construction workers" bagged down a PRIDE bus at around 11 a.m.

While traveling on Manila East Road in Tayay, a bus with handbags, two of the four suspects ordered the bus driver to pull over and the passengers to hand them all their belongings.

The two other suspects joined the bus in a rush before they fled without compensation on board a getaway.

Pull an hour later, another group of four men held up 28 passengers of a Quince City-bound bus on EDSA, taking with them at least P10,000 in cash and valuables.

Senior Supt. Carlos de la Cruz, Marikina City police chief, said the two instances of robbery immediately upon hearing a Philippine Columbia bus bus at the corner of EDSA and Bulacan Street.

The robbery was started a week after last month's attack on a bus, which was the driver's daily earnings. It also took them just a minute to get the job done.

Police are investigating if the robbery was connected, and added that the suspects could be members of the Abuja (Abu) group.

"However, they could not be the same group. Marikina City is quite far from Tayay, and it would take more than 30 minutes to get there," he said.

Suicide car bombing in southern Russia kills 17

ROSTOV/GEORGINA, RUSSIA—Russia Prime Minister Vladimir Putin blamed extremists "with no soul, without hearts" for a suicide car bombing that killed 17 people on Thursday in the crowded market center of a city in the North Caucasus.

It was the latest terrorist attack as the market in a decade, and while no one claimed responsibility, the Kremlin has been trying to contain Islamic militancy in the mountainous southern region of Russia.

Heavily 17 were wounded in the bombing in Makhachkala, the capital of North Ossetia, with about a half dozen hospitalized in very serious condition.

Prime min. with Russia's top and Russia's estimated 36 million Muslims should play a key role in understanding Islamic extremism in the region.

"The crime like the one that was committed in the North Caucasus today are not an isolated anomaly between our citizens. We mustn't allow this," Putin said in a televised address at the meeting.

The bomber drove to the market square and drove off after explosion, the emergency Situations Ministry said. The last time the car in half, lit the market square with shrapnel and sent civilians in nearby buildings, according to national of several vehicles.

The bomber mobilized an incident of neighboring to the independent hospitals, and Alexander Puzosky of the emergency Situations Ministry. The IBA, Soviet, news agency said its chief to was suspended because of the bomber was damaged, federal security chief Alexander Butyagin said in a televised remark.

Putin blamed the violence on "people with no soul, without hearts. They literally took to light those crimes, those criminals."

The attack came as Muslims prepared for the feast that celebrates the end of the holy month of Ramadan.

Under the protection of Chechnya, Ingushetia and Dagestan, where Islamic militants made up most of the population, North Ossetia is predominantly Orthodox Christian. It has been torn between the Russian and Chechen and other groups that exploded into open fighting in 1999. President Barack Obama said he deplored the violence and said it undermined the resolution of Washington and Moscow to co-operate in fighting terrorism.

"Our hearts go out to the people of North Ossetia, who have suffered so much from horrific acts of terrorism," he said in a statement.

Russian President Dmitry Medvedev immediately sent his condolences to the victims and urged Russian officials to help coordinate efforts to help the victims. He urged investigators to "do everything to track down the bomber, his accomplices and the explosives used."

The regional president of Ingushetia, Ramzan Kadyrov, quickly sent condolences to the leader of North Ossetia to help organize assistance between the two ethnic groups.

It was the deadliest attack in the region since a double suicide bombing killed 12 in a mosque in Dagestan in April. Two suicide bombings on Moscow subway in March killed 40 people and wounded over 100.

Russia's religiously diverse North Caucasus region has been gripped by violence stemming from the separation of Chechnya and forced by economic poverty and rampant official corruption. Russian ethnic groups say extremists with close ties to Russia are in control of the region.

The Washington Post says has been the target of several suicide bombings in the past decade in which scores of people have died. A 1999 bombing killed 55 people, another explosion in 2002 killed 40.

12 US soldiers charged with murder of Afghan civilians

WASHINGTON—Twelve US soldiers have been charged with gruesome crimes in Afghanistan stemming from murdering civilians or keeping body parts as war trophies—evidence that the Pentagon said on Thursday damaged America's image around the world.

The military soldiers from the Washington State National Guard were charged in a case that says they were deployed to Kandahar province a year ago and the murders occurred between January and March, according to the Pentagon.

"Allegations like this are very serious," Pentagon Press Secretary Geoff Morrell said in a statement.

"Clearly, one of these allegations are proved to be untrue, it would be a disaster and a blow to the reputation of our forces around the world."

Morrell declined to comment on the specifics of the charges because the case is still in the military justice system.

The soldiers were charged to date with the murder of three Afghan civilians in Kandahar province.

But new charges disclosed to the media on Wednesday show more. Others have been charged in the murder of two more civilians and the murder of one more.

An Army spokesman said four of the soldiers have been charged in keeping body parts, which included finger bones and a skull including jaw bones and a human tooth. It was unclear where the remains had been discarded or the things thrown. Morrell said the allegations had yet to be proven, but were "serious crimes."

"They are, I think you all would agree, in violation of some of the laws of war," he said. "I am, around the world," he said.

Study: Flamboyant male dancing attracts women best

LONDON—John Frum was not dancing. Women are most attracted to male dancers who have big, flamboyant moves, dance to the music of a local band, according to a new study.

WASHINGTON—A dissident group that had previously evaded the existence of several hidden nuclear sites in Iran claimed on Thursday that it had evidence that the country was building another secret site.

Firm cements its commitment to the environment

By Tina Arnes-Dominic

MOST INDUSTRIES do not know it, but a good part of their trash is going to waste.

This is according to leading cement manufacturer Holcim Philippines, Inc., which has invested in a technology that allows it to use industrial waste to partly fund the operation of its cement manufacturing plants and help solve the country's mounting garbage problem.

The Holcim group has been processing waste destined to Europe and the United States for more than 30 years, and the technology is now in the country through Geocycle, Holcim's environmental unit.

Geocycle vice president Ericson C. Paredes told the Inquirer in an interview that 5 percent of Holcim's fuel already comes from industrial waste and other ecofriendly, non-fossilizable waste such as plastic.

The company's biggest waste input is at least 10 percent.

Environmental hazards

"Without the co-processing facility, the industrial waste would have gone to the dumps, blocking drainage systems and waterways, thus posing serious health and environmental hazards."

Geocycle provides business and communities with a safe and ecofriendly waste-handling technology not only in terms of waste, but also from the perspective of alternative fuel or raw material," says Paredes.

Co-processing, he says, helps reduce waste material to extremely high levels, reaching up to 2,000 to 3,000 tons of waste per day and even less than that for the closed facilities of a cement plant.

Also, resulting in total destruction of the complex waste compounds that would otherwise be harmful to the environment.

"The economy of energy from the waste stream also helps in conserving nonrenewable resources such as coal," Paredes adds.

According to a 2003 study by the Asian Infrastructure Bank, industrial waste accounts for as much as 20 percent of the estimated 1,000 metric tons of waste the Manila peninsula produces each day. Thus, diverting just 10 percent of Holcim's facility significantly reduces the volume of trash going to the dumps.

Abetter alternative

Geocycle currently sources waste from industries committed to responsible disposal of waste materials. These include automotive, broadcasting, consumer goods, petroleum and metal industries.

Paredes said the co-processing technology provides clients with a better alternative to shipping their waste to an active cement plant for treatment, which could be more expensive.

Holcim is actually capable of processing more non-fossilizable waste, but Paredes says the company has not been determined if there is enough supply of the industrial waste and if the volume will make sense without a dedicated facility for it.

Holcim says it has not yet realized significant savings considering the large investments made in the facilities for co-processing. But more than helping Holcim save on costs, Geocycle primarily seeks to enable industries to properly dispose of their waste.

Geocycle is reducing industrial waste sent to landfills by helping run its cement manufacturing plants.

Fuel

The explanation that industrial waste is not simply fed into the co-processing facility but is still processed as landfill down stream it can be too fast.

As a matter of policy, Holcim's waste management unit does not accept infectious and biologically active hospital waste, materials containing asbestos, and radioactive and explosives to ensure the safety of employees and the environment.

Beside from Geocycle, Holcim also has Geoservice, Division 10, which develops devices in the form of plants in the country to retain that plant residues on waste dumps under the Philippine Clean Air Act.

Banks continue to see rise in resources

By Michelle K. Rios

RESOURCES OF the country's banking sector continued to grow in July, rising by 6.5 percent to P6.4 trillion from the P6.01 trillion recorded in the same period last year.

Banker Rios said the growth was largely boosted by the continued rise in deposits, which they said reflected trust in the economy and confidence in the domestic banking sector.

According to monetary officials, this development provides a measure of comfort for the government, which is now trying to persuade the private sector to invest in business infrastructure projects.

Aquino directs Cabinet to look into trade group's suggestions

By Edgardo M. Neri

PROSECUTOR AGENT Aquino has asked members of the Cabinet and other related agencies to consider the proposal under agency heads of the Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry citing the "complementarity" between the proposal and the government's own policies.

PCI president Francis Chan said that Malacañang, in an Aug. 4 note to the business group, said the proposed initiative would "lead all of the President

In July, banking sector's combined assets increased by 6.5% to P6.4T

The increase in resources was seen across all sub-sectors of the banking sector—the retail bank and.

Investment and commercial banks accounted for half of the P6.4 trillion in resources—the share being held by about 6.8 percent from the P5.25 trillion in July last year.

Their funds had a P704 billion increase of the total, making a 5.5-percent rise from the previous year's P545 billion. Retail banks contributed the smallest share with P278.2 billion, registering a 4-percent gain from P271.5 billion in the same period last year. According to Banker's Secretariat Antonio Santiago Jr., the rise in resources of the country's banks will make the sector to support a program of investment in infrastructure projects to increase in trade investments to government economic challenges by 2010 to 2015.

Foreign banks had the lowest increase in resources, which was 1.5 percent. The increase in resources of the country's banks will make the sector to support a program of investment in infrastructure projects to increase in trade investments to government economic challenges by 2010 to 2015.

The BSP kept its policy rates at historic lows—4 percent for overnight borrowing and 6 percent for overnight lending. The move will allow banks to lower the interest rates they charge individual and corporate loans.

The BSP also reported that lending by commercial banks grew in July from a year ago. Banks' outstanding loan portfolio amounted to P2.25 trillion—up by 11.7 percent from P2.01 trillion in July 2009.

"The robust growth in bank lending is in line with the ongoing expansion in domestic economic activity. Given strong demand and ample liquidity, bank lending will continue to rise," Santiago said.

To boost competitiveness, government regulatory reform, investment promotion, and development efforts should be integrated, he said.

"On these points and more, we need an environment that is conducive to business and investment. But we submit to the President and the public that the government and the private sector have to work together to ensure more investment within the country and ensure the sustainability of the economy," Santiago said.

Power utilities will have to go public soon

By Amy K. Rios

ALL PHILIPPINE generation and transmission companies, as well as local distribution utilities, will be forced to go public once the Energy Regulatory Commission issues the final rules and begins to strictly enforce the policy, as specified under the Electric Power Industry Reform Act (EPIRA).

The ERC is now working on rules that will govern the implementation of EPIRA. The ERC, under the EPIRA, will be required to ensure the power companies' compliance to the EPIRA.

Under the EPIRA, generation companies, EPIA and their respective holding companies can use public funds to raise and sell to the public a portion of not less than 35 percent of their common shares of stock.

While the EPIA mandates conversion of shares, the ERC is now working on the scope to securities, taking into account the goal sought to be achieved by the EPIA, which is to broaden the ownership base of the generation, transmission and distribution sectors.

This move is expected to "protect public interest as it is affected by rates and services of the distribution utilities and other providers of electric power," ERC chairman director Francis Santiago Jr.

Making fools of farmers

By Francis M. Ordoñez

IN THE former administration, the government appeared to make fools out of farmers. Though the farmers were never fools, they were treated as such. Last Sept. 3, this piece was almost only changed.

In the previous administration, there were several indicators that showed government's disrespect for farmers.

1. The Agrarian Reformation, a coalition of 42 federations and organizations representing all the major agrarian groups, filed a petition with the Supreme Court asking for the Agrarian Reformation Act to be declared unconstitutional.

2. The farmers were used as the main force for large DA subsidies. However, these subsidies turned out to be unproductive efforts, as evidenced by the alleged fertilizer, seed and other waste.

3. In smuggling, the farmers provided a list of 39 smuggled items. Agrarians were discouraged from smuggling. The Department of Agriculture (DA), the farmers were used

For a boy-meets-dog vibe, just toss a smart jacket over a brightly colored shirt.

Get ready to rough it out in any weather with a statement tee over a long-sleeved ribbed sweatshirt.

Add a striped, subbed-colored sweater to give a sharp finish to a shirt-and-shorts get-up.

While stormy seems to be ahead, this doesn't mean that this should rain on your style parade. The fashion forecast from Surplus: light linens and jackets are the must-haves for the season.

The good news is that you don't have to tote along bulky jackets or umbrella rain gear as you navigate through unpredictable weather. Lightweight looks are perfect - they can keep you cool on warmer days and you can layer those when the temperature drops. Hoodies and zip-up wind jackets not only keep you warm and dry, but also keep you on the fashion radar.

Wear these with jeans, joggers, and skinny jeans for ladies and slim straight jeans for men. Better still, accessorize these with stylish scarves (available for as low as $19.99) in solids, stripes, and playful patterns, as well as sleekly designed hooded parkas for only $75.00.

Rain or shine, Surplus keeps you in great style. The Rainy Day collection is available at Surplus. The go-to store for every season located at 1001 10th Avenue.

Getting Lost In Val Sinestra

And why you and your friends should, too

By Dale Yang

Contributor

WHENEVER someone tags me on Facebook, I normally ignore it, figuring that it's probably just trying to sell me something. However, when my other friends who were tagged recently all a peak have been running on how "THINKING COOL" the post was, I had to see it for myself.

This link led to a site that merely said "Lost in Val Sinestra." I had to load it up on my laptop because it was a Flash-based application, but it was totally worth it. So worth it that I will be anxiously re-visiting and won't divulge details that might spoil the experience for you.

Here are the top 10 reasons we think you should get lost in Val Sinestra:

1. Your curiosity has probably been whetted by now. What is Val Sinestra? It sounds like it could be a villain's name and a cheesy reference. It's so much better than that, we promise.

2. It can tell whether you're a good kisser or not. Seriously, it can.

3. Val Sinestra will make you think twice about that next meeting with friends.

4. It'll leave you wondering how the whole thing was done.

5. And, if you're an overcast and you know how it was actually done, you'll end up wishing you thought of it first.

6. You also better really drink it.

7. It'll provide every moment of your life on your next drinking party with friends. Hook up your laptop to a big-screen TV, turn off the lights and watch it.

8. It'll ensure you when you find out that the whole thing is just a lame internet company's online marketing ad for a TV series.

9. After the first time, you'll want to do it again, with different friends this time.

10. You'll enjoy it so much that you'll be so amazingly stupid as not care where you come that your friends try it out right now.

The grandest celebrations are those close to home.

Have band, will travel

By Christian Brazil Martins
Contributor

WHEN people formulate plans to see the world, the most common are to grow sideburns and lift heavy backpacks or try to save the world and join the Peace Corps. Alison Ferry and Dan Boedeker, the husband-and-wife duo that comprises Indie/Int-rock act Harmonie Pairs, went another route; they forced a hand and decided to live on the road.

The Canadian band, which recently took their globalisation and cultural clash from 190 to full swing, has consistently been on tour since 2006. "While a lot of people would think it's a nightmare to be on tour together, the past is having the time of their lives. It's so funny because people always assume that we're all together and hanging out. But what was apparently, in March of 2009, [the band] got together for the first time in 15 years," says the lead singer, Dinko.

Telephone, E-mail and Internet

"We're sort of an unusual band for that," said Perry. "A lot of bands sort of have touring because it's grueling and it's exhausting. I love it more than anything. We get to come to Manila. How unusual is that?"

The couple, which had their own travel/vlog documentary show on Cliff called "Indie Asia," seem to be in it so they can go around. "I never had the money to travel. I never had the money to go to Malaysia and hang out at the beach or go to Thailand and smoke a bunch of weed and listen to rare music at the beach. But I can now. I always wanted to see the world," Buckner said.

The pair has a plan. They will be moving from Montreal in February next year "because the music scene in this side is more winning, right now than it is in America or Europe."

"It's really important for Thailand that in 2011, when we put out our third record, that we're living in hell on this side of the world. Even though being in a king way away from Manila, it would be easier for us to come to places like here, Vietnam, Thailand and Singapore."

"I think it's the best place in the world to be," said Perry, who spent a few weeks in the city earlier this year to work on a grant meant to help the city's economy. The incentive:

The relaxation won't affect Kowk, 44, a pilot in Peil Patrol, he says that she had usually takes a year off after earning a record and losing it. However, estimates that she had would not be recovering in the 1990s.

WARRICKONE

due until late 2011, with a test to be launched next spring.

In the meantime, the pair is writing their next record, which would be the follow-up to their sophomore effort Face Control. The band, which recorded most of their latest record in just six days, has a single session in goal for their music. "We want to make it as loud as we possibly could," said Howkroy.

Nobody expects the parents to go easily. 'That's the main time we have arguments, when we're writing songs,' said Rodden. 'We're both passionate people and we feel strongly about music, music things.'

“The creativity is a good thing, you couldn’t have made,” added Perry. Apparently, even the positive life has conflict.

First packaged tour to Spain's Santiago de Compostela now available in the Philippines

The Spain Tourism Board, Thai Airways, and a local travel specialist have partnered recently to form a consortium that will provide the Santiago de Compostela Pilgrimage tour in the Philippines.

The Spain Tourism Board sees this as an opportunity for Pilgrims to visit Santiago de Compostela in Spain, one of the three most sacred Roman Catholic sites in the world after Jerusalem and Rome. For many a century, millions of pilgrims have walked along the road to Santiago de Compostela, tracing the footsteps of Martin of Spain, the road to Santiago stretches from the snowy Pyrenees Mountains in France all the way to Galicia, where Santiago de Compostela is located.

The great altar inside the Holy Sepulchre, the church of St. James Cathedral is opened, an occasion that happens only when the feast of St. James, July 25, falls on a Sunday, and million walked across a plain like The road Holy Year will be in 2021, 11 years hence.

Participants can choose between a walking tour and a bus tour. The Pilgrimage tour is scheduled by coach on the following departure dates: September 20, October 13, and October 27.

Admirers eagerly await La Aurora's return

By Ronald G. Mangubat

DENZEL/COMERAN Andy this vividly remembers the early '70s, when a pretty, mature singer from Seoul named Rosa Acuña recorded a version of Mar Morera's "Tud the Music Played." He was so charmed by her exceptional golden voice that he bought his first 45 rpm record.

From then, this started following her career, and the "soulful" singing. He collected about 100 among her old and recent music recordings and now follows the country's original Superstar.

When Acuña started singing, he was just a young boy, but he was inspired by her strong voice—and he was just enjoying the idea of the Latin singer. Then, in 1980, he met her. "She was," he said, "a real beauty."

Today this is one of the many fans who wish to see her still return to the stage after years in the United States.

Edgewise

"This is a really mixed," he declared. "I think, if she gets the right material and writes with a good director, she can still gain her ground. I want to see her perform edgewise, like an action teacher. She has to even away from her singing, go-upon stage and surprise viewers with a surfing contest that she knows the old edgewise rider."

Other people we talked to said that Acuña's reported comeback should be planned well by her handlers.

"She has to do that to make us respect our young audience who might not be aware of her major contribution to the contemporary music," explains Jennifer Ramos, a communication arts teacher. "We often see her dramatic acting style being used by

Sluggish pace hobbles 'Survivor' celeb showdown

By Hector U. Torre

MANILA "Survivor Philippines Celebrity Showdown" finally started airing last Aug. 30, to decidedly mixed reactions from viewers. Some acknowledged that the likes of Rudy Hillen, Patricia Ibañeta and Jon Hall were true-blue celebs—but, too many of the others? Well, not so much.

For one, the show's format was generally liked, but the show's pace was slow. "I've watched it, but I didn't really know if it was a good idea," said one viewer. "I've watched it, but I didn't really know if it was a good idea," said another. "I've watched it, but I didn't really know if it was a good idea," said a third.

The show's quick pace to overlook that physical discrepancy, too, was, but not too fast.

More empathetic sense of romance needed in 'Say I Do'

By Nancy L. Tetre

LAST MONTH
CMAA's "Leading Firms" usually a one ranked firm.

ing "Say I Do," a stylized commercial production - by letting Matti Kallio as Fernando as Lord Poo, with Joe Wampler and Cam Maudslayi as Fernando's strange parents.

They are also open to criticism. When Black Academy and the New York Times' Larry Green, in an editorial, called them to have to make you make this was his pc, they pretend to be happy, they are over again, so

Lara and her par ents are credible enough to believe their "patri
sm."

We caught the show's first release and were initially bothered by the obvious lack of "character" between the two potential lead with knowledge,
